InterestingCorrespondence from Dr. A. H. Scott.

LONDON ENGLAND, PERKINS HOTEL,) 69 EUSTON ROAD, June 8, 1886.

Well, having followed the prescription which I imagined you would give me as mentioned to you in my last letter-of the 6th, I now resume my correspondence.

I am in far better spirits this morning, and I might say feeling better generally, from several causes, but more especially because, I have just received letters from home dated the 24th May, and although 15 days old, were read with avidity and much pleasure, as they imparted and conveyed to me the first and only news I have received since I have been on

I have received since I have been on the continent, with assurances of the good health and well being of my dearly loved ones at home.

The old Tower which I visited yesterday so noted in England's History by Macauly is one of very great interest and singularity indeed. It is an irregular mass of old buildings and novel architecture, erected at various periods and surrounded by a battlemented wall and deep moat which was drained in 1843. It stands on the banks of the Thames stands on the banks of the Thames cast of the city and outside of the bounds of the ancient city walls.

The Tower is provided with four gates, the Iron Gate, the Water Gate and the Traiter's Gate all the contract of the Case and the gates, the Iron Gate, the Water Gate and the Traitor's Gate, all on the side next to the Thames, and on the west the principal, or Lyons Gate, so called from the Royal Managerie, formerly kept there, a stone bridge flanked by two Towers, the Middle and Bynard, leads across the moat, which can still be flooded by the outer Bail, or anterior court. On the left is the Bell Tower, adjacent to which is a narrow passage leading to which is a narrow passage leading around the fortifications, within the wall further on to the right is the Traitor's Gate, being a double gateway to the Thames by and through which state prisoners were formerly admitted to the Tower. Above this is the St. Thomas Tower, a gate-way opposite leads under the Broomy Tower to the inner Bail. In the Tower to the inner Bail. In the center of this court upon elightly rising ground stands the square White Tower or Keep, the most ancient part of the Fortress which was erected by William, the Conqueror, in the year 1078. The names of several of these Towers are indissolubly associated with many dark and painful memories. In the Broops Tower the sons of Edward the 4th are paid to have been murdered by a of Richard the 3d. In the simple were the Princess Elizabeth of Strangined by her aister Queen.

Berlin and back here. I shall remain here all this week, looking at this most beautiful city, and which might be well termed an earthly paradise. Mary. Lady Jane Gray is said to have been imprisoned in the Brick Tower. At the north west corner stands the Chapel of St. Peter Advi-nicula, and erected by Edward the 1st, on the site of a still older church, CLARKSVILLE, July 26 .- As by tin lst, on the site of a still older church, re-erected by Edward the 3d, altered by Henry the 8th, and restored in 1877. Adjoining it is a small burying ground of which Macauly, the great English-historian, thus writes: "In truth there is no sadder spot on earth than this little cemetery. Death is there associated, not as in Westminster Abbey and St. Pauls, with genius and virtue, with public veneration, and with imperishable renown; not as in our numblest churches and churchyards, with everything that is most endearing in social and domestic charities, but with whatever is darkest in human destiny, with CLARKSVILLE, July 26.—As by time honored custom the democrats of Pope will at this election vote for a Johnson county man for State Senator it might be well to present our candidate briefly to your readers, and though well and favorable known to many in your county, there are no doubt others among your readers for whom it would be of interest.

Mr. G. T. Cazort was born in this county about two miles from Cabin Creek, and is one of the firm of the well known Gazort Bros. who have large farming interests on the river near that place and who are also largely engaged in merchandising and in the manufacture and ship ment of lumber. The firm consists of three brothers, all men of sterling worth and business capacity, but it is I believe generally conceded, by those best acquainted with them, that they have been indebted most for their great business success to the superior management, energy and brilliant business qualifications of Mr. G. T. or "Tom" as he is familiarly called by his friends. He is thirty-six years of age, a consistent and upright member of the Methodist church, a courteous gentleman in manner and hearing, an untiring worker he has found time in addition to pushing his large business interests.—to cuttivate and improve his mind and store away a large amount of varied and useful knowledge. His acquaintances are all his friends, and as an estimate of the that is most endearing in social and domestic charities, but with whatever is darkest in human destiny, with the savage triumph of implacable enemies, with the inconstancy, the ingratitude and the cowardice of friends, with all the miseries of failen greatness and of blighted fame." The execution of Anne Boleyne, Catherine Howard, and indy Lane Gray, all took place in this Tower, the very spot being marked where they were executed. My letter would be too greatly extended were I to attempt even to give the names of the almost countless number of the many noted and unfortunate victims who were beheaded and burned in this chapel, under the orders and decrees of cruel and relentless sovereigns and tyrants of that period.

I think perhaps now that I will leave here next Saturday for Paris, France, where I hope to find many long and interesting letters from friends in old Arkansas.

I shall remain in Paris eight or ten days and perhaps longer, the same in Berlin and Vienna, where I contemplate going from there. And returning to Loudon, thence going up into Scotland, should I be prevented from going to Italy, Rome and other places originally marked out. I shall however advise you from time to time where I am, what I see, how I feel, with anticipations of realizing much satisfaction and pleasure when I reach Paris, from which place I will write on arrival.

Very truly yours,

A. H. Scott. worker he has found time in addition to pushing his large business interests,—to cultivate and improve his mind and store away a large amount of varied and useful knowledge. His acquaintances are all his friends, and as an estimate of the esteem in which he is held by his immediate neighbors, Pittsburg township in the primary election gave him a majority of three hundred and forty one—only sixteen votes being cast for the other candidates, while throughout our county generally it was only necessary to let the voters know that he had consented to make the race, in order to secure the nomination. We think our candidate will suit the democrats of Pope and will suit the democrats of Pope and honor himself and the district in the discharge of his official duties.

Appleton News. Correspondence of the Democrat.

APPLETON, July 23.—The DEMoCRAT is a very welcome visitor to us, and I am always glad when the time and I am always glad when the time comes for me to give you the dots from our little village... Appleton is progressing rapidly in a manufacturing point of view. A soap factory is to be the next enterprise, J. S. Canada is proprietor. He has secured the services of three of our young men before and after school hours. Their task is light and we have no reason why they should not theran denomination), so you see I am in good company. Will not so likely go estray, and must doubtless by this association become a better day to Piace De la Concorde, and across the Ponte de la Concorde, right in front of the Chambre of Deputies. I then went up Rue Champ Des Elysees, to Aro de Triomphe, and to the top of it on the hill, where we had a magnificent view of the hours. Their task is light and we are no reason why they should not remain in his employ. ... Lib West of the I. T. is visiting friends and relatives in and around Appleton... Alex Lemley, of Vanburen, is spending a few days with his aged father and mother of this place... A public school is being taught at this place by Prof. Kerth, assisted by Miss Ellen Garriguss. Mrs. Laudo Hill will close her writing school, which has been in progress for two weeks to night. All are well pleased. Mrs. Hill understands her business.... J. J. Smith is welcomed back to our little town... Some of our candidates made us speeches, on last we had a magnificent view of the city. There are twelve Avenues or Boulevards centering at this Arc de Triomphe. It is 260 feet high, and we could see a great many places of interest. The Tuilleries is at the other end, and just to the right of it, and near the Scine, is to be seen Notre Dame, with its two Towers. Montmatre is quite distinct at another point. Bois de Boulogne, des troyed by the late war, has been replanted, and seems to be growing very finely. I attended service at Madeline this morning. It is a very large church, 350 feet, I think, in length, and not a window to be found in it. The light is all obtained from the top of the building. I was quite sick again on vesterday as I came over across the Channel. I think I half while sheet to put the control of the property of the in it. The light is all obtained from the top of the building. I was quite sick again on yesterday as I came over across the Channel. I think I shall go back by way of Bologne. The time across there will be about an hour and a half. It was 5½ or 6 hours the way I came. I think I shall go up the Rhine from here, when I leave, via Brussells to Cologne, and make my way down to Geneva, and across to Vienna, up to Berlin and back here. I shall remain here all this week, looking at hachta, Conway county, this week. He reports that they had a very interesting meeting...Bill Hogins, of Dover, was a welcome visitor to his friends and relatives this week.... friends and relatives this week....

Geo. Vaughan visited us a few days since. Geo. Is a fine man and we are glad to note that he spoke favorable of coming to Appleton to enter the bee business. Success to you old "pard."...Mr. Potts was in town yesterday shaking hands with the boys and old men, and tiping his hat to the young and old ladies....
Some sickness in our vicinity, but some of a very serious nature that none of a very serious nature that we know of . . . We are glad that W. J. Lewis is talking of coming back to Arkaneas. Jeff is a good citizen and we need him. S. W. Craigg will see the serious with him. Come on perhaps come with him. Come on coys, we will kill the fatted calf, if we can find it, if you come.... May prosperity be the DEMOCRAT'S portion.
